

CONTEMPORARY GLASS SIGNS FOR OFFICE INTERIORS AND EXTERIORS

DESIGN BRIEF

Futureglass contemporary glass signs for interior and exterior applications are ideal for reception areas, entrance signage and direction signs. They offer a visually-attractive, tough and durable solution for interior and exterior applications. Glass, with its clean lines and inherent design flexibility, is an ideal material for contemporary signage.

Futureglass UV bonding techniques mean you can mount the sign on a variety of materials.

The Futureglass range represents the first commercially-available bonded glass signage. We are confident of taking the process of UV bonding from indoor applications to the extremes of all year round exterior use.

The glass signs are available in a range of colours and finishes and they are suitable for screen printing, engraving or other techniques to give the impression you need. Futureglass signs are manufactured in the UK from high-quality materials for long life and easy maintenance.

Futureglass' aim is to introduce a comprehensive range of signage for business applications with a 7-day lead time. Currently we offer project-based glass signage, which has been used by a number of prestigious locations and brand names.
