JEG RECEPTION TABLE

Compact elegant table for the smaller reception area

DESIGN BRIEF

This compact elegant glass reception table is ideal for the smaller reception area. If you're tight on space, but big on design ideas, Jeg is the table for you. This simple, attractive table combines practicality and aesthetics, without compromise.

You can choose from four types of column - walnut, cherry, dark wenge or stainless steel - to suit any contemporary interior design style and the table is available in ten sizes of square or rectangular top to suit the smallest reception area.

Despite its size, Jeg is built for long life. The tabletop is made from toughened glass, conforming to BS 6206A. The legs simply attach to the top by grub screws for stability and quick, easy assembly. This contemporary glass reception table features Futureglass' UV bonding technique for safety and long life.

Jeg, like other glass contract furniture from Futureglass, is a superb example of contemporary British design, manufactured in the UK. With Jeg, you've got an elegant compact solution where space is an issue.
